COLLEGE OF UNIVERSAL WISDOM
P.O. Box 419, Yucca Valley, California

Part of the cloud in the first picture is in the second picture, and clouds in the second picture are in the third picture, giving the relative motion of the ship.

The pictures were submitted by John Hay of 9 Clark Court, in Larchmont, New York.
Q: What is it?

The College of Universal Wisdom is the research branch of the Ministry of Universal Wisdom.

Q: How long has the Ministry of Universal Wisdom been operating?

The original ministry was established in 1950 under the name of "The Brotherhood of Cosmic Christ". In 1953 a reorganization was effected.

Q: How did it originate?

The Ministry originated at Giant Rock Airport because the remote location did not include any means to "go to church" or have religious activities.

Q: Is it a "Saucer", or spacecraft club?

No. An interested group were conducting meetings, which included prayers, the singing of hymns, and a silent meditation. This activity had gone on two years before the spacecraft, or space people entered the picture.

Q: What research is involved?

The research started in 1950 as a result of phenomena which could not be explained. Originally the research was in E.S.P., or mental telepathy. With the beginning of communications by the space people in 1952 by telethought, our activities increased. This finally led to the landing of one of their spacecraft in August of 1953.

During these years we were given information on their method of rejuvenation. This led us to establish a research separately from our meetings, in order to apply practically the vast amount of technical data that had been given to us through their thought projections.

Q: Have the thought communications been verified to the extent that one can reasonably feel the information will stand up under physical research?

Yes. Verification of the data came in many ways. In 1952 we sent information to the Air Force that the saucers were going to "buzz" Washington, D.C., several days before it happened.

In October, 1953, we started printing some of the information in the "Proceedings". Much of this was printed before the translation of the "Dead Sea Scrolls", and later verified when they were translated into English.

In another case, figures we printed were worked out mathematically by Dr. Linne, who is considered to be the Einstein of Finland; and he stated they made it possible for him to work out a perfect result. This was rare, he explained, because mathematically our scientific theories do not work out to a perfect solution, because there is something wrong with the theories.

The preliminary research we have conducted has verified the principle that was given by the space people. It involves the memory span of atoms, the polarity interchange of vortices, and the generation of a "time field". This research was all conducted without the application of "primary energy", which is necessary to use on the larger apparatus we are now building.

On one solidly overcast night, the space people told me to tell 125 people assembled for one of our outside meetings, that within one hour the stars would be visible through a small cleared area of the clouds overhead. Within the hour an area approximately two miles in diameter opened in the solid overcast and the stars were seen in a clear sky. Then the opening in the clouds moved northwesterly until the entire Big Dipper was visible through the opening.

Many of the people were sitting in chairs with their backs to the direction of the Big Dipper, so our friends in the spacecraft overhead called me again and asked me to tell the people to all look toward the Big Dipper, as they were going to "dump a clinker".

This I did. Within two minutes after everyone had turned and were watching, we all saw the largest, most brilliant "falling star" type of display between our location and the Big Dipper.

These cited verifications of the thought communications from our space friends are only a few of many, many verifications, all witnessed by numbers of other people.

These many proofs of the authenticity of our information is what has led us to be the only organization connected with the "saucers" that has property (10 acres), buildings, and practical research going on in connection with the principles the space people use.
Our continued work and effort in cooperation with the space people has cemented our mutual trust, and betokens future benefits for all humanity.

We are serving, not by asking people to change their beliefs in religion, or church; but rather by bringing the reality of religion into the reality of science, applying universal principles in a useful, down-to-earth way.

Q: Has the College of Universal Wisdom been established to teach?

No. The College is established only for research. The "Proceedings" paper is the official outlet for any and all information we think will interest our readers and friends. The "Proceedings" is definitely not a "saucer club" paper. We are home Saturdays and Sundays to teach anything we may to the many interested people who visit us. On each Saturday night a meeting is held which has always been open to the public for the past seven years. This Saturday meeting activity is the "Ministry of Universal Wisdom".

CORRECTION

The picture printed on the front of the last issue (September-October) of the "Proceedings" was taken from Highway 101 in Camarillo, not Canoga Park, California.

SEASON'S GREETINGS

To all our readers and friends, we extend to you a Merry Christmas and a very Happy New Year. We hope with your continued support to accomplish greater things in the coming year. Our effort is to contribute something to life, not to death. Many people have remarked that in any other country we would have already had financial support from the government to further our research into the extension of man's lifespan.

We struggle on, making progress, but slowly; determined to give humanity a reason to live.

"As I do ye shall do, and even greater things shall ye do."
CONTACT INVESTIGATIONS

The newest U.F.O. research organization to come to life is N.I.C.A.P. (National Investigation Committee for Aerial Phenomena) of Washington, D.C.

Its able Director is Major Donald E. Keyhoe. The organization was started by Townsend Brown in 1956. Its most valuable asset in our opinion is Rose Campbell, who has been the secretary for both Brown and Keyhoe.

The background of N.I.C.A.P. is composed of prominent military and civilian people who add prestige and knowledge to its purpose.

At least one of the advisors on the board has had contact with the space people.

The first investigation being conducted by this august body of people, outside the investigation of published sightings, is the investigation of "contactees" and their stories.

N.I.C.A.P. has addressed letters to the "Unholy Seven" of saucerdom, asking for answers to nine pertinent questions. N.I.C.A.P. said they would expose all hoaxes, but they didn't say anything about publicizing and upholding anybody that proved to have had authentic contacts with the space visitors.

If this investigation is being held with the idea of disproving the contacts, instead of from a neutral viewpoint, then it will and must prove nothing.

With all due respect to Major Keyhoe, who has done an exceptional job of writing three very good books on the subject, he still has not even seen a ship, let alone conversed with the occupants of one. I doubt very much if he even knows who on his board has had personal contact with the space people.

Due to my ability to know what's going on, I would like to explain what started the investigation of the contact stories by N.I.C.A.P.

It seems that jet pilots have reported to the Air Force that saucers have been flying along with the jets and the occupants carrying on intelligent conversations with the pilots over their radios in good English.
Naturally, the Air Force realized that if the occupants could talk to pilots over radio, they could also have landed in remote areas and talked with people on the ground. This may be denied, that jet pilots talked with our space friends in this manner, but it will not change the truth. This is the sole reason why seven contactees were picked to be investigated.

I will agree with N.I.C.A.P. that there are hoaxes and hoaxers. We have uncovered several ourselves, one by just being "gullible". His efforts to carry on his grudge by writing to federal agencies of the government to investigate us will only result in our being stronger, in that they will find us with a clean slate.

I am all for N.I.C.A.P. and their investigation of the contact stories. I have nothing to hide. In fact, I have been "shouting it from the housetops" for a period of years.

I was recently completely cleared by one agency of the federal government, after a four year investigation over a phoney charge.

Every meeting we ever held has been opened with a prayer, and the public has always been welcome to witness our efforts. Our Conventions have been sacred meetings, to us, where anyone and everyone (including hoaxers) has been democratically allowed to tell their stories publicly. How else can we arrive at intelligent conclusions in this great happening unless we sift all the sand.

The Air Force side is not all of it, nor the only authentic side. Eyes in uniforms do not always see any better than eyes in civilian clothes.

If N.I.C.A.P. can show half the faith in people that we have shown then they will succeed. If they serve as a civilian reporting center for the benefit of the Air Force, then they will be exposed by our space friends.

Mighty names in the background may add to the prestige of N.I.C.A.P., but Truth does not recognize name, class, or rank.

My personal efforts will be to cooperate with all, to bring to the public the greatest event that has happened since the birth of Christ.
Since the Soviet Union has launched two satellites, an atomic ship, and the world's largest airliner, the boys up front in Washington must be experiencing the greatest confusion.

Our government could make some spectacular demonstrations too, if they dared to break their own self-inflicted "secrecy".

The critical state of the American economy has brought about cutbacks in aircraft employment, military, and many related branches of domestic industry.

The excuse for all of these cutbacks has been economy. We still see $3,500,000,000.00 going out for foreign aid: $300,000,000 to Yugoslavia; $3,516,667 to Israel; $500,000,000 more to Indonesia, etc. These figures could go on for pages, for these are not total amounts but are our annual gifts.

While Congress voted the above amount to Israel as an increase to the amount already allocated for their education, cultural and scientific activities, the same Congress voted down any help for United States educational activities.

Ike called Truman a spendthrift because he spent $205,986,114,825 in a four year term. Then Ike proceeded to outspend Truman by spending $271,262,306,433 in his first four year term in office.

This is the same President that is now giving the tax payers the "economy" excuse for cutbacks involving the layoff of 100,000 people in the aircraft industry in Southern California alone.

Integration should start at the top and work all the way down. The United States should be integrated by spending the "foreign aid" at home. This year's "foreign aid" spent at home would give each state about $72,000,000 to use for education, culture and science.

There are thousands of people outside of the accepted scientific institutions who have worked out advanced ideas. They do not get a nickel from their own government to assist them in their scientific work.
The old malarky that all the brains are in uniforms, have titles, graduated from colleges with degrees, etc., is completely erroneous.

The reason the Russians are first with their rocket satellites is because they accepted their brains where they found them, regardless of title, rank, or race.

Americans have been led to believe that because we had the atomic bomb first, we excelled the Soviets in all other branches of science.

The Russians have always been ahead in rocketry. They were using rockets in World War 2 and never stopped their development after the war.

Many of the top U.S. rocket scientists quit working for the government because the "know-it-all" politicians tried to tell them what to do.

Ike called out federal troops to enforce integration at Little Rock, Arkansas, but I haven't seen him call out anything to integrate the Army, the Navy, and the Air Force. They're still going their own ways, despite the Armed Forces Act.

Until the Navy takes care of military matters on water, the Army takes care of military matters on land, and all matters pertaining to the air are left to the Air Force, we will have no integrated security. The boundaries of these three services are established by their very nature, but the politicians and brass each have to have their favored service perform some of each others service.

A Department of Defense was established to abolish the interservice jealousies and correlate their activities. Let's see some integration of brains in Washington and we won't have to call out federal and state troops.

Economy is setting the standard because there is no national, or world security for a nation that is broke.

The economy cuts should start abroad, not at home. The money wasted in "foreign aid" since its inception, would have prevented the present cutbacks and American science would have preceded the Russians into space.

While our top leaders yell "chins up" over the air, the Russians fill the hot air expelled by our politicians with satellites.
We graduate one-tenth of the scientists this year that Moscow is graduating. The "foreign aid" money would have graduated one hundred times more than the Russians.

The greatest inventors of our nation never saw a college degree. Brains and inspiration are scattered throughout the U.S. by the ton, but it takes someone with brains at the top positions of authority to recognize it.

Integrate the air brains into air science, and let the Air Force handle rocketry. Let the Navy take care of the waters, and the Army take care of the lands. As Commander-in-Chief, Ike could do this, but economy comes first with him because the money boys are calling the shots. There is no profit in depression.

Sixty-seven and three-tenths percent of the tax payers' money goes to the military, so Ike can't tell them to integrate because they are calling the shots. Wherever the bulk of your taxes go, that branch is running the show. They control the economy.

Politicians, and their stooges, have committed treason by kow-towing to the money interests instead of fulfilling the jobs they were elected for. Russia will continue to steal the show until integration in government is accomplished.

ANNIVERSARY

This issue of the "Proceedings" is the beginning of the fifth year of its publication. We have always attempted to bring our readers items of interest in many fields.

"Saucers", science, theories, theology, politics, and opinions are presented to our readers for their analysis and acceptance, or rejection as they choose.

Please notify us of your new and old addresses when you move. Again, we must apologize for not being able to answer completely our tremendous volume of mail.

We wish to sincerely thank our many readers who have supported the "Proceedings", financially, for the past four years.
FOREIGN FACTS ON Fallout

While the "free" press of the United States fails to bring out pertinent facts relative to the radioactive fallout from nuclear tests, the foreign papers reveal that effects from radiation are already dangerous.

From the Australian paper "Pix" comes the following statements:

"Radioactive fallout from nuclear tests at Maralinga (South Australia), in the Pacific, at Nevada (U.S.) and in Russia's Siberia is exposing 9 million Australians to leukemia and cancer."

"The staid, always ultra-conservative journal of the British Medical Association, "Lancet," has gone so far as to declare that it believes the plague of Asian influenza is the direct result of changes in human cell structure brought about by radiation from fallout following nuclear tests."

"Many top scientists believe that already sufficient harm has been done that generations hence will suffer."

"Russia has admitted having to cope with a radioactive poisoning outbreak following its most recent tests and in the United States there is a mounting fear that damage to stock and humans in the Nevada area is sufficient to call for the most searching national investigation."

"Incidents that have sharpened U.S. reaction to the menace have been the mysterious deaths of sheep, strange attacks of leukemia and a growing conviction that a rise in cancer cases in the Nevada and Utah areas is directly the result of fallout from what are admittedly comparatively minor experiments at Yucca Flats."

"Deadly strontium 90, a flesh and bone boring element that knows no resistance, is the primary cause of fear."

"It eats into human marrow, destroys the white corpuscles and eliminates the fighting forces that the body naturally builds to check the threat of cancer and leukemia."
"Scientists admit it takes 28 years to disintegrate any given quantity of strontium 90 - an apprentice brew in a wizard's cauldron - once it is released in the atmosphere.

"It can float in the clouds miles above the earth. It can fall with every shower of rain, contaminate food and pastures, be passed on to humans through the milk they drink and the food they eat."

"In Adelaide, Dr. G.M.E. Mayo, senior lecturer in genetics at Adelaide University, says radiation from fallout is lowering the world's physical fitness. He says it is making people increasingly dependent on drugs, doctors and the benefits provided by a free health scheme."

"American events which startled the world, and which are only now being revealed for the first time, began in 1951. Martin Bardoli, then, was playing in his garden. A few miles away, Minnie Sharp was working bareheaded."

"Soon after tests at the proving grounds, Minnie Sharp began losing her hair. Since then she has lost all hair on her body and efforts to restore it have been futile."

"Dewey Hortt, Elma Mackellprang and Aaron Leavitt are others in the Utah-Nevada area who have suffered the same fate."

"But their lots have been light ones to that of Martin (Butch) Bardoli. Martin, a healthy, husky little lad whose robustness was often the source of comment among neighbours suddenly developed leukemia. The disease devoured him at a rate that baffled doctors and he died."

"It is only in recent months that the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission is prepared to admit the possibility, if not the probability, that early, secret surveys failed to reveal that radioactivity was the mitigating element in all these cases."

"The stepped-up production of recent experiments has worried the Americans because they now believe that hundreds of school children, that holiday makers in the Nevada and Utah canyons may have been exposed to dangerous, and what is worse, unknown amounts of gamma irradiation. The snowballing amounts of gamma radiation in the district have become noticeable only with time and improved methods of measuring the cutoff. Some U.S. authorities believe there may be hundreds of people wandering the State not knowing they have been exposed. They have little idea who or where they may be."

"Scientists agree that it is in the field of genetics that the greatest harm probably already has been done."

"The American National Academy of Sciences in its most recent report says, 'The general public must be protected by whatever controls may prove necessary from receiving a total reproductive lifetime dose (conception to age 30) of more than 10 roentgens of man-made radiation in reproductive cells.'"

"It emphasises its alarm by pointing out that the average medical X-ray uses from three to four roentgens."

"Three X-rays, therefore, can involve a human being under 30 in exposure to more radiation than the U.S. Academy believes safe with the added contamination that is being poured out in frightening amounts from the explosive tests of the great powers."

In Switzerland reports in the papers stated that the radiation in three of their lakes is sufficient to make the water dangerous for drinking. The location of Switzerland on the globe is just about as far away from the Nevada, Pacific, Australian and Soviet tests as one can get.

Distance is thus not a safety factor.

ARTICLE

Many bulletins concerning space-craft observations and contacts have been deluged recently by articles justifiably attempting to straighten out the general public on these issues. In almost all of the articles to date the conclusions are that the "contactees" are (1) either insane or (2) individuals seeking public esteem and monetary gain. The essence of the articles is that because of lack of physical evidence these stories are to be considered invalid. This of course is an opinion by an individual who has neither the intelligence nor the integrity to examine the information first hand. Even casual examination will reveal this type of article to be either half truths or absolute falsehoods.
When analyzing any problem, both extremes must be examined to arrive at a point of neutrality from which to make a valid observation. The end result will be an answer "somewhere correct".

Recently a book (Flying Saucer Pilgrimage) has been published by Bryant and Helen Reeves which comes the closest to being an objective investigation made to date. These people have spent two years and covered 23,000 miles in their investigation. Particularly interesting is the description of the Reeves on the flyleaf of the book. This should be enough to make any intelligent individual give credence to their report. It would be well to stack their reputation against some of the other so-called "investigators" or self styled "Racket Busters".

The people who have contacted the space people say only that they have no motive other than passing on information given to them. One possible exception to this is George Van Tassel. To date Van Tassel has been investigated by probably every major branch of the federal government at the insistence of one particular "Racket Buster" in New York. These malicious attacks were conceived by a self confessed hoaxer; who incidently is playing the saucer issue to the hilt for monetary gain, as witnessed by a recent article in a national magazine. Van Tassel has been very patient, especially when the individual used the U.S. mails as an instrument in his hoax.

We are being communicated with by individuals of a far superior intelligence than ours. The issue to be resolved is not who sees what and prove it, but how to use the information to expand the scope of our intelligence.

This appears to be a very high sounding statement and perhaps should be qualified. Five years ago my wife and I came to Giant Rock to examine at first hand the information we were hearing about this communication from other planets. Understandably we were skeptical, as this was new to our way of thinking. For the next two years we were rather critical of the information we were hearing. At the same time we were beginning to know the Van Tassels and an admiration formed for these pioneers. As we studied and worked with them, a relation formed which culminated in the moving of my family to Giant Rock to help in the practical realization of the information which had been gathered. This was a rather large decision, as I had worked my way through stages of Production Supervision with one of the major auto firms to an Industrial Engineer's position with an immediate offer of promotion. My work necessitated critical examination of issues at hand. Everything I had ever learned had gone into my decision to make the move.

If anyone is interested in making an objective investigation of the motives of the Van Tassel organization, he is cordially invited to visit us. I am sure their report will be similar to that of Bryant and Helen Reeves.
